VIOLA WITTRICKIANA (PANSY)

Viola Wittrockiana, popularly known as Pansy is widely used as borders to add colors in a garden. Plants bloom early with vigorous abundant blossoms that stand up well above the foliage and are resistant to cold and heat. These are perennial plants but grown as annuals. The beautiful rich color combination of Violas make alluring border plantings. They are blooming this time of the year. You can appreciate these beautiful, colorful mixes of pansies as you enter the County Administration Center on the north and west entrances or as you enter Health and Human Services Agency (JB Askew Bldg.) on the south entrance. Violas bloom in early summer and fall and should be planted in early spring and late summer.
